at 8 o'clock. She will be assisted by Mrs. John H. Paty whose singing it is always a pleasure to hear.
Tickets are for sale at all the bookstores.

THE DUDOIT HOUSE.

"The Dudoit House" is an appellation familiar to most people in this town. But it sometimes misleads, on account of being applied to two different houses, which have no connection with each other. There is a cottage on the Hawaiian Hotel grounds, fronting on Beretania street, known as the Old Dudoit House, but by "the Dudoit House" is usually meant the private hotel kept by Mrs. Dudoit. It is situated on King street, and was formerly the residence of Hon. C. R. Bishop.

MC'TIGHE--PAYNE.

The marriage of Mr. Thos. Mc-Tighe, night clerk at the Hawaiian Hotel, to Miss Alice S. Payne of Cork, Ireland, took place last evening at St. Andrew's Cathedral, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. George Wallace, assisted by Rev. H. H. Gowen. Quite a large number of friends were in the body of the Cathedral to witness the ceremony. Miss Lindsay was bridesmaid and Mr. P. Lucas officiated as best man. Mr. Thos.
Lindsay gave the bride away. She was attired in a very pretty costume of white silk, with veil and orange blossoms. As the bridal party left the church Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played on the organ.

A reception was held at the old Dudoit house, on Beretania street, and was a very enjoyable affair. A most tastefully decorated and abundantly supplied table greeted the eyes of numerous and well wishing friends. Several toasts were proposed and responded to and the zest and good cheer that prevailed throughout this very enjoyable evening was surely of a kind which will give "Tom" and his bride a guarantee that sincere friendship for both is not lacking. Eventually the tables were cleared away and dancing commenced and was kept up until an early hour this morning. The Hawaiian Quintette Club sang several vocal selections during the evening.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

A man named Kippen, a Scotchman by birth, died in an upper room of the Merchants' Exchange saloon, last evening. It appears Kippen went to the saloon during the day, and asked for a place to rest, as he was feeling ill. He was accordingly taken upstairs. Information of the man being there in a sick condition was conveyed to the Police Station.
An officer at once made investigation, and procured medical aid. The man was then in a dying condition.
He expired at a little past seven o'clock in the evening.

Kippen came here from San Francisco a few months ago, during the time that quarantine was operative against vessels from that port. On being freed from quarantine he applied at the BULLETIN Office for employment as a shorthand reporter.
He then stated that he had only been a short time in San Francisco, and that formerly he lived in Sydney, Australia, where he did shorthand reporting for newspapers. He procured temporary employment in the law office of Mr. Kinney, during the session of the Legislature, after which he went to one of the other islands. He did some active service in connection with the Anti-Asiatic Association.

A few days ago Kippen returned to Honolulu, looking very sickly and complaining of being ill. He told an acquaintance that he had been shot through the body in some African war, from the effect of which he was suffering, and that he was going back to Sydney to die. He purchased an aloha ring during yesterday forenoon at the jewelry shop of Mr. Lindsay, which he intended was for some relative or friend.

An autopsy held this morning by Dr. C. T. Rogers showed that the deceased had been suffering from chronic bronchitis, and that there were extensive pleuritic adhesions on both sides, particularly on the right. The muscular tissue of the heart was flabby, and there was some disease of the valves. In the doctor's opinion the above described condition was sufficient to cause death.

INTERNATIONAL COURTESY.

GRAND BALL GIVEN BY THE KING TO THE BRITISH ADMIRAL.

Last evening His Majesty gave a grand ball at Iolani Palace in honor of Rear-Admiral Algernon C. F.
Heneage of H. B. M.'s flagship Swiftsure. The interior of the Palace was magnificently decorated for the occasion. The grand hallway was one mass of choice potted palms and ferns, and large bouquets of flowers were to be seen on all sides, scattering their fragrance through the building. The throne room where the reception was held was a scene of dazzling brilliancy, lighted as it was by hundreds of incandescent lights from handsome crystal chandeliers. On one side were two immense floral devices of the choicest flowers, principally roses, representing Diamond Head and Round Top. These attracted much attention. On the dais on either side were stationed kahili bearers. The blue room was also very tastefully decorated with flowers and potted plants. The large dining hall presented a very beautiful appearance. On the immense sideboard were choice plants and flowers, while on the opposite side of the room was displayed a large number of His Majesty's Jubilee presents. During the reception the Royal Hawaiian Band, stationed on the front verandah, played appropriate selections. When dancing commenced the Band was divided, the string orchestra playing on the front verandah for dancing, while the other part of the Band occupied a position on the verandah on the Waikiki side of the Palace and played between the dances. The verandahs were lit up by numerous colored electric lights. Some of the toilets worn by the ladies were extremely handsome, and in contrast with the full evening dress worn by the gentlemen and the uniforms of the officers from the different warships, presented a very gay scene.
Quite a number of gentlemen wore decorations.

The invited guests were received at the main entrance by Majors J.
D. Holt and H. F. Bertelman and conducted to the dressing rooms.
Admiral Heneage and his staff arrived about 9 o'clock in the State carriage the Band playing "God Save the Queen." A detachment of the Royal Household Guards were on duty in front of the Palace as a guard of honor.

Shortly after nine o'clock Their Majesties the King and Queen entered the throne room, the band playing the Hawaiian National Anthem. His Majesty was attired in evening dress and wore the sash of a British order and several decorations. Her Majesty appeared in her magnificent peacock robe which she wore at Queen Victoria's jubilee, and had on several decorations.
Their Majesties stood just below the dais, with the guest of the evening, Admiral Heneage, and the officers of his staff on the right. On the left were H. R. H. Princess Liliuokalani, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, H. H.
Prince Kawanakoa and H. H.
Prince Kalaniano'ole. Mrs. J. W.
Robertson, wife of the Vice-Chamberlain, was maid of honor in attendance upon the Queen.

Immediately after the reception dancing commenced. The programme, a work of art in itself, contained fourteen dances.
The lancers opened the ball and the royal set was composed of His Majesty and Mrs. J. H. Wodehouse, Admiral Heneage and Mrs. G. W.
Merrill, Prince Kawanakoa and Mrs. Captain Graham, Prince Kalaniano'ole and Mrs. J. W. Robertson. The scene in the throne room during the dancing was a brilliant one.

Shortly before midnight an elegant supper was served in the spacious dining hall, to which everyone present did ample justice. On the mauka veranda was a special room for Admiral Heneage, draped with British and Hawaiian flags.

The whole of the arrangements for the evening were in the hands of the Vice-Chamberlain, Mr. J. W.
Robertson, and reflect the highest credit on that gentleman, as nothing had been left undone for the comfort of the invited guests. Adjutant Kaiama was also very attentive to those present during the evening.
The ball was a most brilliant affair throughout.
